This stately home was built circa.1895 for Robert Bell and his family. It was named 'Verona' and remained in the Bell family until the 1930s. Situated on a prominent corner site on the corner of Cavendish and Chatsworth Road, this residence makes a strong contribution to the Cavendish Road streetscape and demonstrates the residential growth of Coorparoo in this era.

Statement of significance

Relevant assessment criteria

This is a place of local heritage significance and meets one or more of the local heritage criteria under the Heritage planning scheme policy of the Brisbane City Plan 2014. It is significant because:

Historical

CRITERION A

The place is important in demonstrating the evolution or pattern of the city's or local area's history as a fine residence that reflects the development of Cavendish road as an elite address at the end of the nineteenth century.

Aesthetic

CRITERION E

The place is important because of its aesthetic significance as a substantial nineteenth-century timber home situated on the prominent corner of Cavendish and Chatsworth Roads.
